

Chippopotamus must Have

Chippopotamus is more than just a fun name, it's a local clothing company that's making some seriously awesome threads for women and men. As you check out their website you'll notice the company is based on having fun on the golf course, and the designs support that.

The women's polo is an 85% polyester, 15% spandex blend that's soft, breathable, and SPF 50+. The company's fun hippo logo is embroidered on the sleeve. It's the perfect match to the women's skirt which features front and back pockets. The incredibly soft material is quick-drying and breathable for those extra hot days on the course.

Truer Words Have Never Been Embroidered

Mom's golf bag needs a statement piece, and we've found it for her. This driver cover (also offered in fairway and hybrid) is from CMC Design and clearly displays, "Golf now, Wine later." The premium faux leather and plush lining is built to last and fits all 460cc driver models. To put it over the top, the custom embroidery even has 750ml and an implied alcohol content of 13%. Kicks She'll Show-off

Mom doesn't deserve to wear those clunky saddle shoes anymore. Instead, these UA Charged Breathe 2 Spikeless shoes from Under Armour will be the perfect fit. With a White/Silver/Baja Blue colorway, these shoes have a subtle feminine flair and were designed with the female player in mind. A microfiber leather upper with UA's Never-Wet treatment keeps you cool and dry no matter the weather. Traction is not sacrificed because of the UA Rotational Resistance outsole, so slippage is not an option. $90 www.underarmour.com

A Scope For Her

Pinned Golf produces some of the best laser rangefinders around, and at a reasonable price. Where the genre was lacking, however, was fun colors for ladies. Problem solved, as the company has its Prism Rangefinder in an eye-catching pink (nine colors in total are available). This laser is charged with a USB cable and has a battery life that lasts 60 rounds. Like many options that cost much more, the Prism is magnetic, has a slope on/off toggle, and vibrates when you've locked onto the pin. As a bonus, the pink color is practically unforgettable when you're leaving the course.
